

+ Mobile diesel sewage pump

+ Product Introduction +

The mobile diesel sewage pump is a mobile device that combines a diesel engine with a self-priming sewage pump. It features strong self-priming and drainage capabilities, and is easy to move. It can efficiently pump sewage containing silt and debris even in power-free environments. It is suitable for municipal drainage, construction projects, mine drainage, agricultural irrigation, and other applications, offering stable performance, flexible use, and easy maintenance.

