

Ceramic slurry pump ++

+ Product Introduction +

Ceramic slurry pumps are ceramic mud pumps developed from high-temperature sintered silicon carbide. These pumps are characterized by their wear resistance, corrosion resistance, and resistance to strong acids and alkalis. They offer superior wear resistance compared to high-chromium alloy materials.

Ceramic slurry pumps are ceramic mud pumps developed from high-temperature sintered silicon carbide. These pumps are characterized by their wear resistance, corrosion resistance, and resistance to strong acids and alkalis. They offer superior wear resistance compared to high-chromium alloy materials.

